Curricular Aspects

The renown of any and every educational institution depends on a well planned, appropriately structured and realistically designed curriculum. As Govt-Aided educational institution, the present academic framework provides no space to the affiliate colleges in designing and/or implementing their own institutional curricular structure. However, our college wholly adheres to the curriculum frame provided by our parent University. Adequate measures are taken towards in-time and effective implementation of the curriculum by specifying the academic year plan in the college prospectus.

In accordance with the academic year plan of parent University, prior to the commencement of each session the IQAC Cell and the Academic Sub-committee prepares an Academic Calendar. Accordingly, for the timely dissemination of the lesson plans, a central routine is prepared keeping in mind the credit to hour ratio of the specified courses offered.

Effective delivery of curriculum is made by using traditional blackboard teaching, complemented by the use of modern ICT enabled tools, techniques, e-learning resources and digital platforms. Apart from taking regular classes as per the prescribed syllabi, all the departments engage in other diverse modes of academic dissemination by organizing departmental students' seminars, quiz competitions, essay writing contests, wall magazines, conducting field based surveys, preparing models for exhibitions etc. The laboratory based departments conduct specific field trips with their students that add to their pragmatic understanding and provide good exposure to the field of application of the subject they learn.

Internal assessment tests beyond the set assessment structure of University are informally conducted by all the departments by monitoring regular class performances of students from various angles such as participation in interactions during regular theoretical and practical classes, participation in social programs organized by the institution, evaluation of specific assignments given individually or in groups etc. Curriculum enrichment is provided by integrating relevant issues of professional ethics, gender, human values, environment and sustainability as per the scope of the given course structure of specific subjects.

As an appropriate measure of institutional assessment, feedback is collected from all stakeholders, analysed, action taken report prepared by authority and displayed on institutional website.

Teaching learning and evaluation

Teaching learning is considered as the area of utmost importance of any educational institution. Keeping harmony with the notion, our institution not only puts sincere efforts to maintain its standards but also strives to attain betterment in every feasible area. At present our institution runs three programs of BA, B.Sc and B.Com with 19 departments offering Honours (16 Major) and General (19 Minor) courses. Our admission process is fully transparent which is conducted through online mode following the guidelines provided by University of Burdwan and also Government of West Bengal. The average enrollment percentage of our college was more than 60% over the last five years. Admission under reservation allotment strictly adhered to the reservation criteria as prescribed by the Government reservation policy.

In our institution percentage of teachers filled against sanctioned post is almost 85% with 52 % teachers having NET/SET/SLET/PhD as their highest qualifications. Although student: teacher ratio is approximately 65: 1 our institution adopts a multidimensional holistic approach to focus on student centric teaching-learning which include experiential learning provided by the departments where practical hands on experimental performance forms an integral part of their curriculum. Additionally, almost all the departments irrespective of their defined course conduct educational excursions which help the students in acquiring real life lessons. Participative and creative learning is encouraged by conducting students' seminars, quiz contests, wall magazines, art competitions, cultural programs, sport meets and also community based social and environment awareness programs. Digital learning initiatives expanded to a large scale during Covid pandemic times where different e-learning tools and platforms such as Google and Zoom formed an essential part of online teaching-learning. Presently also the blended mode of online-offline teaching-learning appears to be the preferred choice of significant number of newly entered students.

The external/internal examination system and reforms which comprised of both year-end (1+1+1 pattern; old) and semester end (CBCS pattern; new) in the last five years was transparent and efficient, conducted under the specified guidelines of our parent University. Program and course attainment of students were monitored directly by their results as well as by indirect survey based methods.

Research, Innovations and Extensions

Our college with its limited infrastructure and capacity has made sincere efforts to inculcate the culture of research among students and faculties. Unfortunately, our institution received no research mobilization grants in last five years as UGC stalled their scheme of allocating funds to Govt-Aided colleges under the Plan Block Grant (PBG) of five years since 2017 (after the completion of 12th Five Year Plan).

However, in an attempt to create a research driven innovation ecosystem, students were encouraged to participate in National Science Day, workshops, model exhibitions etc. Besides, as an initiative to create an atmosphere that can foster the growth of Indian Knowledge system, Centre of languages has been formed which intends to digitize records of especially ethnic and ancient languages and preserve the nearly lost form of art and culture that could show the path of linguistic evolution.

As other research initiatives, our college conducted in total 48 seminars and webinars (during Covid period). Besides, 104 research articles were published by the faculty members of our college out of which significant numbers were enlisted in UGC-CARE LIST with impact factors provided by standard clarivate calculating bodies (e.g ISI Web of Science and Scopus). In addition, 43 book chapters in books and/or edited volumes were also added to the list of research endeavors by our faculties.

Participating in community based extension programmes is also considered as an essential part, in fostering research mindedness in students. Hence, to promote awareness and instill critical thinking amongst students, several events relating to environmental issues, health and hygiene campaigns, and social and mental health related issues were conducted. Very importantly, as part of an UGC initiative, our institution conducted an area wide survey during Covid pandemic to map the mental and social situations of the community thriving in rural livelihood. Additionally, after reopening of institution post Covid lockdown, mental health counselling sessions conducted in collaboration with a certified NGO was also a significant project undertaken by our college. Furthermore, about 41 outreach programs were also performed by the NSS and NCC units of our college.

Students Support and Progression

An educational institution is benchmarked by its students' performance and further progression beyond the periphery of the parent institution. In order to cater to such type of support our institution facilitated the process by which more than 42 % of our students received financial support in the form of scholarships and freships from different Government or Government sponsored organizations in last five years.

Apart from assisting in receipt of financial grants, our institution took active role in strengthening other capacity building skills of students by arranging workshops, seminars and experimental field trips where their performance were assessed in terms of participation and collaboration within a team, their leadership skills mapped, problem solving attitude and emotional intelligence analysed all of which could equip them to face real life and work place challenges outside the comfort of their home and institution. Besides, communication skill enhancement programs, health and fitness programs were also organized for students as good communication skills remains an ultimate mode of self expression while sound physical and mental health an indispensable element of growth.

Our institution being situated in the rural backdrop struggle in placing our students in high profile jobs of elite organizations. However, to sincerely overcome the obstacle in past academic
